

ANSELM
ACADEMIC

2019

Dear colleagues and friends,

For more than a decade, Anselm Academic has provided accessible, engaging texts for the contemporary student, written by teaching scholars whose experience in the classroom informs their writing and pedagogy.

Spanning religious studies, theology, Scripture, and ethics, our texts respond to the real needs of students. We at Anselm have committed ourselves to both research into new courses and conversation with professors about how to facilitate deep learning in their classrooms. We are proud to offer a handful of thoughtful new titles each year and hope you enjoy them as well.

As always, we are happy to provide free complimentary review copies to any professor considering a book for possible adoption. Additionally, if you've had a chance to review a text and you like it—but you don't need the whole book, perhaps only a few chapters—we would be happy to work with you to provide portions of texts at lower costs; just let us know what you need.

If you have any questions, concerns, feedback, or ideas about how to better serve your classroom and your students, please don't hesitate to be in touch.

All Creation Is Connected

Voices in Response to Pope Francis’s Encyclical on the Environment

Daniel R. DiLeo, Editor

“The authors of the dozen essays in this excellent book make up a ‘dream team’ of engaged scholars and activists dedicated to honing an unflinching religious response to the environmental crisis.”

—Thomas Massaro, SJ
 Fordham University

Why care about the environment?

It’s a question people are asking and answering with greater frequency—and urgency—than ever before. And although many Americans remain ambivalent about our responsibility toward the earth, Pope Francis is clear: we must care about the environment, because all creation is connected.

All Creation Is Connected: Voices in Response to Pope Francis’s Encyclical on Ecology is a collection of essays by leading Catholic thinkers that both supplements and unpacks the encyclical Laudato si’: On Care for Our Common Home. Exploring a range of topics—from the background and reception of the encyclical to the key concepts that frame and animate it—All Creation Is Connected offers compelling reflections on the question “Why care about the environment?” that will catalyze conversation in your classroom and spur action for years to come.

Because Water Is Life

Catholic Social Teaching Confronts Earth's Water Crises

Gary L. Chamberlain

"Because Water Is Life is a supple, specific, and critically engaging book that will be profoundly useful to teachers and students. Gary Chamberlain hones his analytic, constructive insights into a text that is utterly invaluable for all conversations about water and Catholic social teaching. I recommend this gripping and accessible book to everyone who seeks to understand further the legacy of CST and how that tradition offers pathways toward water ethics."

—Christiana Zenner
Fordham University

Climate change. Pollution. Scarcity. Fracking. Privatization. Acidification. What can Catholicism's "best-kept secret"—the social doctrine of the church—teach us about Earth's water crises?

In fact, it can teach us a lot.

Gary Chamberlain's Because Water Is Life: Catholic Social Teaching Confronts Earth's Water Crises explores the major issues we face when it comes to water by analyzing them through the lens of Catholic social teaching (CST). After introducing the principles of CST, Because Water Is Life explores narratives about real people and scenarios to unpack six contemporary water crises. With review and discussion questions and recommendations for additional research and reading, Because Water Is Life not only encourages critical thinking on one of today's most pressing issues, but inspires hope and action for developing a new water ethic.

Gary Chamberlain is a professor emeritus of Christian ethics in the theology and religious studies department at Seattle University.

Christ and the Spirit

Catholic Perspectives through the Ages

John J. Markey

"Christ and the Spirit presents an accessible entry to the study of Christology, using examples from contemporary culture to demonstrate the action of the Spirit of God in the world. The book's concise explanations of theological principles and their applications complement its detailed rendition of the way Jesus Christ is presented in Scripture and received through the ages."

—Phyllis Zagano
Hofstra University

Christ and the Spirit: Catholic Perspectives through the Ages presents a succinct and thoughtful explanation of Catholic understandings of Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit. With contributor Greg Zuschlag, Markey illustrates theological concepts through familiar stories, including Beauty and the Beast, Superman, and Star Wars, presenting a cohesive introduction to conceptions of Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit, while steadfastly insisting that the question Why does this matter? remain at the forefront of this exploration.

Making Sense of Mystery

A Primer on Theological Thinking

John J. Markey

"Making Sense of Mystery is an excellent guide for anyone wanting to make a first foray into theological thinking. In clear and accessible prose, with pertinent examples drawn from everyday life, it draws the reader into the theological world step by step."

—Robert Schreiter
Catholic Theological Union

What is the meaning of life? Entering this into an internet search engine will yield millions of results that reflect centuries of thinking on this question. With so many competing claims about the meaning of existence, how can a person sort through the responses?

Rooted in the Christian tradition, Making Sense of Mystery: A Primer on Theological Thinking lays the groundwork for theological thinking—not just learning theological concepts—and invites readers to reflect on their own understandings of mystery and meaning. With a glossary, review and discussion questions, and chapters on the discipline of theology, Making Sense of Mystery is a perfect primer for the modern classroom.

Islam

A Living Faith

Natana J. DeLong-Bas

"DeLong-Bas's Islam: A Living Faith is a must read. This exceptionally well-written, informative, and engaging introduction to Islam and Christian-Muslim relations will be welcomed by teachers, students, religious leaders, and the general public."

—John L. Esposito
 Georgetown University

As the faith tradition of 1.6 billion people globally, Islam is the second-largest—and fastest-growing—of all the world's religions. Still, many in the West harbor misconceptions about its people, practices, and beliefs.

Through rich and thorough exploration, Natana DeLong-Bas's Islam: A Living Faith challenges ignorance with facts and false impressions with stories of lived faith. Weaving personal narratives with major historical and contemporary events and developments, DeLong-Bas skillfully and sensitively conveys the teachings, people, and practices of the Islamic faith. This introduction includes sections on the Five Pillars, the Qur'an, and the legacy of Muhammad, as well as sections on the origin of sectarian identities, the purpose of Shariah and Islamic law, the mystical tradition of Sufism, and Muslim-Christian relations. Stocked with terms, definitions, and recommendations for additional resources, Islam: A Living Faith is an ideal book suited perfectly for courses exploring the foundations of Islam.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Natana J. DeLong-Bas is an associate professor at Boston College, where she teaches Theology and Islamic Civilizations and Societies. She is coauthor of Shariah: What Everyone Needs to Know (Oxford, 2018) and editor-in-chief of The Oxford Encyclopedia of Islam and Women (Oxford, 2013).

See, Judge, Act

Catholic Social Teaching and Service Learning

Revised Edition

Erin M. Brigham

"The new edition of See, Judge, Act is a splendid introduction to the rich heritage of modern Catholic social teaching. Even more, in the spirit of Pope Francis's pastoral theology, it offers an invaluable guide to living the tradition in the context of service learning. Following the hermeneutical logic of the pastoral circle or spiral in responding to the 'signs of the times,' Brigham brings the wisdom of a vital tradition to bear on a range of critical social issues. See, Judge, Act gives us reason to hope that the church's social teaching will cease to be our 'best-kept secret.'"

—William O'Neill
 Jesuit School of Theology
 of Santa Clara University

Although more and more classrooms are integrating service-learning components into their curriculum, teachers and students often lack the unique pedagogical resources or frameworks for community-based learning that these courses demand.

Erin Brigham updates a proven text that delivers the tools needed for reflective community engagement. Designed for readers with little or no theology background, See, Judge, Act introduces seven principles of Catholic social teaching and guides students and teachers alike to apply them to contemporary social issues. With reflection questions, sidebars, service-learning vignettes, and recommended resources, See, Judge, Act invites and empowers students to participate in works of justice and social change.

Reading the Old Testament Anew

Biblical Perspectives on Today's Issues

John Kaltner

"Reading the Old Testament Anew: Biblical Perspectives on Today's Issues shows that John Kaltner is not only a skilled biblical scholar but also an accomplished teacher. While the contents of the book consist of the findings of reliable and current biblical scholarship, its uniqueness lies in its carefully structured pedagogical format. Kaltner does not simply suggest a method of learning the material; he demonstrates it as he leads the reader step-by-step through each chapter. Reading the Old Testament Anew: Biblical Perspectives on Today's Issues will serve as a valuable resource as well as a fine text for undergraduates."

Who Is God?

Catholic Perspectives through the Ages

John J. Markey

"Informed by the best of contemporary theology and biblical studies, John Markey's Who Is God? is wonderfully concise and surprisingly accessible. Carefully chosen poetry and literature serve as an entryway and invite the reader into a vision of a God of infinite loving compassion whose 'heart' is tuned to the cries of the poor. Remarkably thorough, Markey's narrative deftly surveys the major historical developments and key figures who have honed and plumbed this vision through the centuries and ends by revealing the contemporary relevance of such an understanding of God."

Catholic Ethics in Today's World

Revised Edition

Jozef Zalot and Benedict Guevin, OSB

"Honest, accessible, and thorough: Catholic Ethics in Today's World accomplishes a welcome but rare feat among current textbooks. Zalot and Guevin provide clear, accurate, and enthusiastic explorations of Catholic moral theology and social justice. Their examples involve realistic scenarios, and their willingness to incorporate the research and insight of their own undergraduate students only enhances the book's accessibility. Instructors will appreciate the authors' patient explanation of the theology behind the well-known moral perspectives."

Ethical Business

Cultivating the Good in Organizational Culture

Richard Kyte

"Richard Kyte's Ethical Business elevates business ethics from a process of rules-based problem-solving to the practice of character-based relationship building. The author argues that ethical business leaders derive their power from trust, not coercion. The ethical businesses that Kyte describes reap the rewards of attracting more productive employees, more loyal customers, and more committed investors. Kyte provides a blueprint for building companies and brands in sync with today's increasingly socially conscious consumers."

Good Business

Catholic Social Teaching at Work in the Marketplace

Thomas O'Brien, Elizabeth W. Collier, Patrick Flanagan

"O'Brien, Collier, and Flanagan's Good Business strikingly illustrates how Catholic social teaching challenges the overemphasis on individualism and profit for a few in contemporary American capitalism. In eight chapters the book develops and applies a different theme of Catholic social teaching to the structure of economic life. The authors admirably bring together theory and practice by relating in each chapter a different approach to economic enterprises illustrating the incorporation of the theme developed in that chapter."

The Greening of Faith

Insights from Judaism, Islam, and Buddhism

Tobias Winright, Editor

Christianity is by no means the only religion with concerns about the current ecological crisis—nor is it the only tradition with ideas for how to resolve it. What can we learn from different ancient traditions around the globe about this global issue?

In The Greening of Faith: Insights from Judaism, Islam, and Buddhism, editor Tobias Winright gathers important reflections on the ecological crisis—and what might be done about it—from leading scholars specializing in different religious traditions. Combined, these reflections deftly illustrate the way that such a complex and universal moral issue—global ecological degradation—can urge diverse people to serious, renewed engagement with their own theological traditions.

Riders in the Storm

Ethics in an Age of Climate Change

Brian G. Henning

“In Riders in the Storm: Ethics in an Age of Climate Change, Brian Henning shows that we are called to rethink everything in view of the catastrophe we face so as to engage together in the great work to which Thomas Berry has been calling us. Central to honorable pursuit of this work is personal morality, and this morality must shape our lives to the needs of our times. Like every truly wise morality, what it calls for is not miserable sacrifice but joyful, responsible life.”

Toward Thriving Communities

Virtue Ethics as Social Ethics

Brian Stiltner

“Brian Stiltner’s Toward Thriving Communities extends virtue ethics to concrete moral situations we face every day. Integrating theoretical analysis with application, Stiltner illuminates the importance of virtue ethics: from parenting to politics, from being a good neighbor to being a conscientious global citizen. Stiltner prompts readers to reflect personally on the moral character they should strive to embody and also to inculcate in the next generation. Stiltner’s grounded elucidation of virtue theory will prove useful for students and lay readers who haven’t yet been introduced to this classical and time-honored approach to moral living.”

Encounters in Faith

Christianity in Interreligious Dialogue

Peter Feldmeier

“Religions are too often presented as some exotic doctrinal system for conceptual analysis or some curious relic for historical investigation. Rather, for Feldmeier, religions are to be encountered and experienced. In his hands, religions no longer appear as so many isms but as living, evolving, and above all, mystical realities that expand and transform one’s spiritual perspective and way of life. Professors and students who are bored by religion textbooks . . . will rejoice in having Feldmeier’s book at their disposal.”

Who Would Jesus Kill?

War, Peace, and the Christian Tradition

Mark J. Allman

“Perhaps the best test of a book is how students respond. My students found Who Would Jesus Kill? to be informative and engaging. They appreciated the broad historical overview of Christian perspectives on war and how these views shape our current reflections on war and peace. Allman’s text is clear, relevant, and as thought provoking as the title suggests. The Enduring Quest for Meaning

Humans, Mystery, and the Story of Religion

Michael Horace Barnes

“At a time when many students question the value of religion, Michael Horace Barnes’s The Enduring Quest for Meaning provides them with an engagingly written text that demonstrates why the religious quest not only endures but thrives. Barnes shows how human religiousness is grounded in our shared humanity. This book will appeal to students who are religious, as well as to those who are suspicious of religion. It integrates insights from multiple disciplines, including religious studies, theology, philosophy, history, psychology, sociology, and anthropology. Its rich examples from a wide variety of religious traditions provide concrete illustrations of the larger points being made and will spark student interest.”

Moral Traditions

An Introduction to World Religious Ethics

Mari Rapela Heidt

“Those of us who teach in undergraduate contexts that stress the importance of understanding not just the basics of ethical reasoning, but also the various shades of meaning ethics can have in the world’s major religions, know how difficult it is to find appropriate resources. Mari Rapela Heidt does an outstanding job of introducing novice ethicists to the field of comparative religious ethics through a concise and practical overview of the moral worlds of Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Daoism, Confucianism, Sikhism, Jainism Bahá’í, and Shinto. This book is sure to find its place as a text in a number of my religious ethics courses.”

Anselm Companion to the Bible

Corrine L. Carvalho, Editor

With contributions from leading North American biblical scholars, Anselm Companion to the Bible is geared to students of diverse faith backgrounds who are new to studying the Bible in an academic environment. Filled with accessible and well-written essays by leading biblical scholars from a variety of religious backgrounds, the Companion is organized into four parts: introductions to biblical studies and the Old and New Testaments, and a collection of additional study aids.

For those seeking a supplement focused on either the Old Testament or the New Testament, check out the two additional Anselm Companions on page 30 of this catalog.

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Corrine L. Carvalho is professor of theology and director of the University of Saint Thomas's Luann Dummer Center for Women. Carvalho received her PhD from Yale University, where she specialized in Old Testament studies, and her master's degree from the Graduate Theological Union, in Berkeley, California.

The Back Door Introduction to the Bible

John Kaltner and Steven L. McKenzie

"A uniquely engaging, provocative, and I daresay fun invitation into the fascinating worlds of the Bible by two master teachers who clearly love what they do and want to share that love with others. It's a gift to teachers and students alike. I can't wait to use it in my own introductory courses."

—Timothy Beal
Case Western Reserve University

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

John Kaltner is associate professor of religious studies at Rhodes College in Memphis, Tennessee. Steven L. McKenzie is professor of Hebrew Bible/Old Testament at Rhodes College in Memphis, Tennessee.

Beginning Biblical Studies

Revised Edition

Marielle Frigge

"In Beginning Biblical Studies, Dr. Marielle Frigge reveals herself as a superb teacher. Grounded in solid scholarship and written in graceful prose, her textbook informs and guides those unfamiliar with the Bible; in contrast to many textbook writers, she avoids the temptation to overwhelm her readers with data. May this outstanding book be widely used, and may its readers learn from the wisdom of its author."

—Mary C. Boys, SNJM
Union Theological Seminary

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Marielle Frigge has spent more than twenty-eight years teaching biblical studies to undergraduates. She received her PhD in theology and education from Boston College.

The Catholic Epistles, Hebrews, and Revelation

Introducing the New Testament

Daniel J. Scholz

“In The Catholic Epistles, Hebrews, and Revelation, Daniel J. Scholz masterfully integrates the later New Testament writings into the broader theological, ecclesial, literary, and social contexts in which they were composed. Both students and teachers are indebted to Dr. Scholz for his clear and concise presentation of the scholarly debates and theological issues that make these writings especially important.”

Jesus in the Gospels and Acts

Introducing the New Testament New Edition

Daniel J. Scholz

“Dan Scholz offers a thoroughly readable and informative introduction to the Gospels and Acts, providing a multiangled look at these books through historical, literary, and theological lenses. Each chapter on the Gospels and Acts begins with considerations about the book’s historical setting (author, dating, sources, and audience) and moves to significant exploration of how the story is told in that particular narrative, providing insight into literary devices and themes. Additional discussions are included on the historical backdrop of these books, historical Jesus study, and noncanonical early Christian gospels.”

Encountering Ancient Voices

A Guide to Reading the Old Testament Second Edition

Corrine L. Carvalho

“Encountering Ancient Voices makes an invaluable contribution to undergraduate biblical studies, especially for students who are studying the Bible as part of their core curriculum. The book’s format is exceptionally helpful, especially the discussions of biblical passages, but also the charts, sidebars, overviews, and summaries. This book helped me achieve my best effort ever in teaching this course.”

Paul

Windows on His Thought and His World

Maria Pascuzzi

“A textbook that explores the person Paul and his writings in light of his historical and social contexts, Paul: Windows on His Thought and His World eschews the common format of letter-by-letter review, opting for a topical introduction that better explores reoccurring themes and synthesizes Paul’s thought. A good introduction for those beginning their Pauline studies or those ready to renew their acquaintance with the Apostle to the Gentiles.”

She is the the associate dean for undergraduate studies at Seton Hall University and the associate editor of the Catholic Biblical Quarterly.

The Pauline Letters

Introducing the New Testament

Daniel J. Scholz

“Daniel Scholz provides a very functional text that works well for undergraduate or first-year seminary courses in Paul’s letters. The occasion behind each letter is carefully set out, and the ‘Theology and Ethics’ sections for each letter prove helpful. The graphics within each chapter make it very user-friendly, and questions at the end of each chapter allow for ready use in academic courses. The final chapter, on such writings as Acts of Paul and Thecla, Third Corinthians, and Acts of Paul, also provides a helpful introduction to Paul’s legacy in early Christianity. I heartily recommend this book for courses on Paul’s letters.”

Primer on Biblical Methods

Corrine L. Carvalho

“I have been looking for something like this book for years. In the past it has been necessary to cobble together a packet of articles so that students would have access to information about various approaches to reading and interpreting the Bible. This book puts all these things into one book that will be read and reread, consulted and cross-referenced. Carvalho’s familiarity with questions asked by today’s students enhances the Primer on Biblical Methods. She incorporates examples from a contemporary perspective in a lively and engaging manner. Students don’t have to pick up a heavy tome and plow through unnecessary technical terminology. Carvalho turns exotic terminology into interesting stuff! It is a model of engaging erudition.”

Moses in Pharaoh’s House

A Liberation Spirituality for North America

John J. Markey

“John Markey’s brilliant reflection, Moses in Pharaoh’s House, makes an enormous contribution to the existing literature on the preferential option for the poor and reminds us of the universal call to liberation. Offering a Gospel-based vision of authentic freedom and human solidarity, he helps us see that conversion is not just about individual change but also about social and communal transformation. As he reminds us that we cannot understand the mystery of our lives independently of the mystery of God, he also helps us see that we cannot understand who we are independently of our connection to one another, especially our neighbor in need.”

University of Notre Dame

The Catholic Church

A Brief Popular History

Cynthia Stewart

“Dr. Stewart presents a history of the Catholic Church in a very engaging and reader-friendly manner. She prompts students to think of where we are now and how we have gotten here. I believe Cynthia Stewart has succeeded in presenting a ‘popular history.’”

—Mary Filice
Ohio Dominican University

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

If God Is for Us

Christian Perspectives on God and Suffering

Gloria L. Schaab

“If there is a God, and if God is good, then how can God allow suffering and injustice?’ Perhaps no other question so urgently occupies young people struggling with religious commitment. But it cannot be avoided if one is to lay claim to honest and mature Christian faith. In her superb book If God Is for Us, Gloria Schaab probes various options and offers a way forward that takes both Christian belief and the reality of suffering seriously. She does not seek to offer final ‘answers,’ which would ultimately prove inadequate, but rather to offer approaches to the question that will yield deeper insights.”

—Rev. David Gentry-Akin
Saint Mary’s College of California

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Gloria L. Schaab, SSJ, is professor of theology, director of graduate programs in theology and ministry, and associate dean for general education at Barry University, in Miami Shores, Florida. She is the author of Trinity in Relation (Anselm Academic, 2012).

Christian Thought and Practice

A Primer Revised Edition

Natalie Kertes Weaver

“This clear and comprehensive ‘primer’ is an ideal text for an ‘Introduction to Christianity’ course. But it is far more than that. In Christian Thought and Practice, Natalie Kertes Weaver provides a readable guide to anyone seeking a balanced description of the history, beliefs, and practices of Christianity. Written by an accomplished teacher, it presumes no background knowledge on the part of the reader, but only a willingness to understand how Christianity today came to be what it is—in all its diversity. A remarkable achievement.”

God in Cosmic History

Where Science and History Meet Religion

Ted Peters

“In Ted Peters’s God in Cosmic History: Where Science and History Meet Religion, one of America’s top contemporary theologians insightfully connects our new scientific story of the universe to the long human quest for God. Such a delicate task is one that few writers are qualified to carry out in a manner that is both fully respectful of the natural sciences and also deeply rooted in religious wisdom. Ted Peters is the embodiment of such skill. His book should have wide appeal to readers of many backgrounds. Strongly recommended.”

—John F. Haught
Georgetown University

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Ted Peters is coeditor of the journal Theology and Science, published by the Francisco J. Ayala Center for Theology and the Natural Sciences at the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, California. Reason, Faith, and Tradition

Explorations in Catholic Theology Revised Edition

Martin C. Albl

"I've been teaching Introduction to Catholic Theology for the past eighteen years, and I only wish that Martin Albl's Reason, Faith, and Tradition: Explorations in Catholic Theology, revised edition, had been there from the beginning! Albl's book has a central argument—that faith and reason, which have been tragically separated in modernity, are compatible by nature—which it makes while introducing all manner of doctrines, theologians, controversies, etc. This second edition contains significant improvements over the first. I can't imagine using anything else in my introductory courses."

Theological Foundations

Concepts and Methods for Understanding Christian Faith Revised and Expanded

J. J. Mueller, Editor

"Theological Foundations is an excellent introduction to undergraduate theology. The scholars chosen for each section understand that most undergrads have never studied theology and are entering a new realm of knowledge. The material is thorough but written in language that the novice can readily understand. The reference librarian sections of each chapter are invaluable. If you need one text for an introductory course, this is the one."

Understanding Jesus

Christology from Emmaus to Today

Christopher McMahan

"A refreshingly direct Christological overview in which McMahan allows the debates, concerns, and questions, not only of scholars but also of the faithful, to emerge from the texts and then to be addressed in a balanced and thoughtful manner. The book's open and inclusive approach invites readers from any background or perspective to make the journey and to encounter the richness and impact of Christ's life in the world."
