Global Migration
What’s Happening, Why, and a Just Response

Elizabeth W. Collier and Charles R. Strain

“Global Migration: What’s Happening, Why, and a Just Response is an invaluable resource for foundational information, human formation, and social transformation. The authors remind us that migration is not the central problem but rather the symptom of deeper imbalances that uproot people and cause them to move. The authors also challenge us to move beyond incendiary debates to the central moral issues, reminding us that the moral wealth of a country begins with how it treats its most vulnerable members. In bringing out the humanity of the immigrant, Collier and Strain call us to reflect on who we are before God, who we are in this journey of life, and who we are in response to our neighbor in need.”

—Daniel G. Groody, CSC
University of Notre Dame

At latest count, 244 million people—the highest number in history—reside in a nation in which they were not born. But migration is not a new phenomenon.

Elizabeth Collier and Charles Strain’s Global Migration: What’s Happening, Why, and a Just Response unpacks the complex issues surrounding modern migration. Using the See, Judge, Act method of reflection and action, this text goes beyond facts and statistics, offering personal narratives, principles for critical thinking drawn from Catholic social teaching, and opportunities for action from the individual to the international level. Focused on the humanitarian work of Catholic Relief Services throughout the world, Global Migration inspires reflection, provokes discussion, and empowers students to respond to today’s greatest humanitarian crisis.

Five academic course modules based on Global Migration, developed by Catholic Relief Services, are available at university.crs.org.

God in Cosmic History
Where Science and History Meet Religion

Ted Peters

“In Ted Peters’s God in Cosmic History: Where Science and History Meet Religion, one of America’s top contemporary theologians insightfully connects our new scientific story of the universe to the long human quest for God. Such a delicate task is one that few writers are qualified to carry out in a manner that is both fully respectful of the natural sciences and also deeply rooted in religious wisdom. Ted Peters is the embodiment of such skill. His book should have wide appeal to readers of many backgrounds. Strongly recommended.”

— John F. Haught
Georgetown University

Does a scientific account of human and natural history have room for the “God question”?

Using the principles of “Big History,” Ted Peters’s God in Cosmic History: Where Science and History Meet Religion broadens the scope and method of traditional history in order to make room for the all-important God question. This expanded history pauses on the “Axial Age” of human history: a moment during the first millennium in which questions of transcendence first simultaneously arose in distinct locations around the world. By exploring this threshold in cosmic history, Peters demonstrates the way the arrival of the God question marked a radical new human consciousness, one that ultimately laid the groundwork for the modern age.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Ted Peters is coeditor of the journal Theology and Science, published by the Francisco J. Ayala Center for Theology and the Natural Sciences at the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, California. He is Research Professor Emeritus in Systematic Theology and Ethics at Pacific Lutheran Theological Seminary in Berkeley.

Reading the Old Testament
Anew

Biblical Perspectives on Today’s Issues

John Kaltner

“Eschewing the traditional compulsion to cover the entirety of the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament in a single term, John Kaltner has crafted an introductory textbook that works from the principle that ‘less is more.’ By limiting his attention to six key themes—creation, covenant, liberation, being human, ‘the other,’ and social justice—and tracing them through the canon and beyond, Kaltner deftly exposes first-time readers to both the central ideas and major interpretive questions surrounding the biblical text. Breezy and readable, the book should prove useful to instructors who are looking for ways to make the academic study of the Hebrew Bible more accessible to introductory students.”

— Chris Stanley
St. Bonaventure University

Does the Bible remain relevant amid the complexities of the contemporary landscape? Absolutely, according to John Kaltner’s Reading the Old Testament Anew: Biblical Perspectives on Today’s Issues.

In fact, the stories of Scripture have shaped our understandings of the world—often without our even knowing it!

In Reading the Old Testament Anew: Biblical Perspectives on Today’s Issues, Kaltner presents an accessible overview of contemporary biblical scholarship as it relates to timely themes for today’s classroom, including creation, covenant, liberation, the human condition, the marginalized ‘other,’ and social justice. With real-world connections, pertinent artwork, informative and thought-provoking sidebars, and a robust bibliography, Reading the Old Testament Anew is the perfect guide for exploring the ancient context and modern relevance of the Bible as it relates to some of today’s most pressing themes.

John Kaltner is the Virginia Ballou McGehee Professor of Muslim-Christian Relations at Rhodes College.

World Religions in Dialogue

A Comparative Theological Approach, Enhanced Edition

Pim Valkenberg, Editor

“World Religions in Dialogue is that unique textbook which combines competent introduction, accessibility, and a thoughtful dialogue of insiders and outsiders in conversation. It will be a much-appreciated text for the introductory course on world religions, showing both the what of religions and the how of learning religions in an ongoing conversation.”

—Francis X. Clooney, SJ
Harvard University

World Religions in Dialogue

A Comparative Theological Approach

Pim Valkenberg, Editor

“The great strength of this rich, interesting book is that it offers the perspective of both an outsider and an insider for Judaism, Islam, Hinduism, and Buddhism. In the interplay between the two viewpoints, these world religions are illuminated in a fresh way for a Western Christian audience. The review questions, glossaries, and annotated bibliographies that conclude each section offer the reader the opportunity to solidify what has been learned and explore more deeply. Even in a library already stocked with world religions textbooks, this one stands out as a worthy addition.”

Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg

The Catholic Church

A Brief Popular History

Cynthia Stewart

“Dr. Stewart presents a history of the Catholic Church in a very engaging and reader-friendly manner. She prompts students to think of where we are now and how we have gotten here. I believe Cynthia Stewart has succeeded in presenting a ‘popular history.’”

—Mary Filice
Ohio Dominican University

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Cynthia Stewart has taught at Martin Methodist College, Belmont University School of Religion, Rhodes College department of religious studies, and Vanderbilt department of religious studies. She received her PhD in history of Christian thought from Vanderbilt and is currently an independent scholar residing in Nashville, Tennessee.

The Jesus Movement

and the World of the Early Church

Sheila E. McGinn

“A masterful example of an important and difficult genre: the scholar’s presentation, for an intelligent and educated but nonspecialist audience, of the development of Christianity from Jesus to the period of the apostolic fathers. McGinn treats all the New Testament writings and some of the early noncanonical writings in their sociopolitical, economic, and religious contexts and in the process, she educates her readers in how to handle ancient historical writings. This will be a valuable text for beginning theology students.”

—Sandra M. Schneiders
Santa Clara University

Catholic Ethics in Today's World

Revised Edition

Jozef Zalot and Benedict Guevin, OSB

"Catholic Ethics in Today's World is excellent for introducing students to moral reasoning in a genuinely theological context. The authors stress the positive dimension of ethics, quickly breaking through students' stereotypes about Catholic ethics as rule-bound and constricting. The chapters on controversial issues present the reasoning behind official Catholic teaching very cogently, which sets just the right foundation for critical yet constructive dialogue in the classroom."

Ethical Business

Cultivating the Good in Organizational Culture

Richard Kyte

"Richard Kyte's Ethical Business elevates business ethics from a process of rules-based problem-solving to the practice of character-based relationship building. The author argues that ethical business leaders derive their power from trust, not coercion. The ethical businesses that Kyte describes reap the rewards of attracting more productive employees, more loyal customers, and more committed investors. Kyte provides a blueprint for building companies and brands in sync with today's increasingly socially conscious consumers."

An Ethical Life

A Practical Guide to Ethical Reasoning

Richard Kyte

"Richard Kyte's An Ethical Life: A Practical Guide to Ethical Reasoning is first-rate. It is wonderfully accessible, deeply informed, and genuinely constructive. A key to the text's success is the wealth of examples Kyte explores. He shows a keen awareness of particular challenges in securing a sustainable ecological balance. I warmly recommend this fresh and engaging book to anyone looking for a balanced and student-friendly introductory text in ethics."

Good Business

Catholic Social Teaching at Work in the Marketplace

Thomas O'Brien, Elizabeth W. Collier, Patrick Flanagan

"The abstract reflections of theologians and philosophers have often had little impact on the work of practicing business managers. Good Business seeks to bridge that gap and is a welcome addition to the project of applying the principles of Catholic social teaching to the challenges of business. The authors provide a useful summary of basic concepts (such as human dignity, the common good, justice, subsidiarity, and solidarity) and survey some of the issues that surround them. A thought-provoking volume for anyone interested in bringing the Catholic social tradition to the world of business."

The Greening of Faith

Insights from Judaism, Islam, and Buddhism

Tobias Winright, Editor

Christianity is by no means the only religion with concerns about the current ecological crisis—nor is it the only tradition with ideas for how to resolve it. What can we learn from different ancient traditions around the globe about this global issue?

In The Greening of Faith: Insights from Judaism, Islam, and Buddhism, editor Tobias Winright gathers important reflections on the ecological crisis—and what might be done about it—from leading scholars specializing in different religious traditions. Combined, these reflections deftly illustrate the way that such a complex and universal moral issue—global ecological degradation—can urge diverse people to serious, renewed engagement with their own theological traditions.

Riders in the Storm

Ethics in an Age of Climate Change

Brian G. Henning

"In Riders in the Storm: Ethics in an Age of Climate Change, Brian Henning shows that we are called to rethink everything in view of the catastrophe we face so as to engage together in the great work to which Thomas Berry has been calling us. Central to honorable pursuit of this work is personal morality, and this morality must shape our lives to the needs of our times. Like every truly wise morality, what it calls for is not miserable sacrifice but joyful, responsible life."

Toward Thriving Communities

Virtue Ethics as Social Ethics

Brian Stiltner

"In Toward Thriving Communities, Brian Stiltner provides us with a splendid text that teaches us the viability of virtue in social contexts. This timely contribution captures the best that ethics offers us today: a character and growth formation ethics that can be cultivated in families, schools, work, and community service. In these fundamental settings, we can become virtuous, and Stiltner offers us concrete ways to see how this can happen. The book is a welcome dream for any teacher wanting to convey a living, social ethics."

Who Would Jesus Kill?

War, Peace, and the Christian Tradition

Mark J. Allman

"Perhaps the best test of a book is how students respond. My students found Who Would Jesus Kill? to be informative and engaging. They appreciated the broad historical overview of Christian perspectives on war and how these views shape our current reflections on war and peace. Allman's text is clear, relevant, and thought provoking as the title suggests. If you want a textbook that will get your students thinking about the ethical issues related to war, the use of violence, and the search for peace, this is one to choose."

The Enduring Quest for Meaning

Humans, Mystery, and the Story of Religion

Michael Horace Barnes

"Michael Horace Barnes's book The Enduring Quest for Meaning is a comprehensive and well-constructed introduction to religion as human response to mystery. It talks about a God that transcends the limits of particular religions' titles or manner of relating to God or God's existence. The book is coherent, useful, and attractive: coherent because of its examples of how humans have understood Ultimate Reality; useful because of its footnotes and charts and summaries of terms; and attractive in the images that illustrate topics (a picture is frequently 'worth a thousand words')."

Anselm Academic Study Bible

New American Bible

Revised Edition

Carolyn Osiek, RSCJ, General Editor

"Among study Bibles, the Anselm Academic Study Bible stands out for its excellent translation and notes (New American Bible Revised Edition), fresh introductions to the biblical books, and articles on important and neglected topics such as the social context of the Bible, the Christian Bible and Jews, and contextual and transformative interpretation. Expertly edited and amply illustrated, the volume is a most welcome resource for students and interested adults."

—Richard J. Clifford, SJ
School of Theology and Ministry
Boston College

"This is a most welcome and needed addition to the field of such texts and offers rich material that is accessible to the undergraduate while remaining academically rigorous. Students in the university classroom today can vary widely in their familiarity with the Bible. This Study Bible, I believe, will help teachers meet their students 'where they are' while providing them with an academically appropriate and meaningful journey through the biblical world."

—Rev. Jeffrey Cooper
University of Portland

FEATURES

- Clear, insightful articles on key issues around the formation and interpretation of Scripture invite critical thinking.
- Includes four-color charts, maps, and Lectionary for Mass.
- User-tested layout and design aid ease of navigation.
- Informs theological and philosophical perspectives.

Anselm Companion to the Bible

Corrine L. Carvalho, Editor

"The Anselm Companion to the Bible is well-researched and clearly written and explores a rich and amazing variety of topics. Evenly divided between introductory essays and essays on each of the Testaments, they are comprehensive yet succinct, touching on major features of a particular issue without overwhelming details. New ideas, new questions are presented with balance and insight. The Companion is a valuable resource for classroom or personal Bible study."

—Thomas P. McCreesh, OP
Providence College

The Anselm Companion to the Bible is geared to students of diverse faith backgrounds who are new to studying the Bible in an academic environment. Filled with accessible and well-written essays by leading biblical scholars from a variety of religious backgrounds, the Companion is organized into four parts: introductions to biblical studies and the Old and New Testaments, and a collection of additional study aids.

Two additional texts have been derived from the full Companion. The Anselm Companion to the Old Testament includes topics such as Bible translations, methods of biblical interpretation, geography and archeology, and an introduction to the wisdom literature. The Anselm Companion to the New Testament includes topics such as formation of the Bible, New Testament Christologies, and the social and historical context of the Greco-Roman world. Each of these derivative companions contains articles specifically chosen to enrich study of that particular testament.

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Corrine L. Carvalho is professor of theology and director of the University of Saint Thomas's Luann Dummer Center for Women. Dr. Carvalho received her PhD from Yale University, where she specialized in Old Testament studies, and her master's degree from the Graduate Theological Union, in Berkeley, California.

John Kaltner and Steven L. McKenzie

“Kaltner and McKenzie have done it again! As in their earlier Uncensored Bible, they have written a lively, insightful, and humorous introduction to the Bible that is sure to keep all readers—especially students—awake, informed, and entertained. In the field of biblical studies, that is no small feat! I enthusiastically recommend The Back Door Introduction to the Bible to one and all.”

Beginning Biblical Studies

Revised Edition

Marielle Frigge

“In Beginning Biblical Studies, Dr. Marielle Frigge reveals herself as a superb teacher. Grounded in solid scholarship and written in graceful prose, her textbook informs and guides those unfamiliar with the Bible; in contrast to many textbook writers, she avoids the temptation to overwhelm her readers with data. May this outstanding book be widely used, and may its readers learn from the wisdom of its author.”

—Mary C. Boys, SNJM
Union Theological Seminary

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Marielle Frigge has spent more than twenty-eight years teaching biblical studies to undergraduates. She received her PhD in theology and education from Boston College.

The Catholic Epistles, Hebrews, and Revelation

Introducing the New Testament

Daniel J. Scholz

“In The Catholic Epistles, Hebrews, and Revelation, Daniel J. Scholz masterfully integrates the later New Testament writings into the broader theological, ecclesial, literary, and social contexts in which they were composed. Both students and teachers are indebted to Dr. Scholz for his clear and concise presentation of the scholarly debates and theological issues that make these writings especially important.”

Encountering Ancient Voices

A Guide to Reading the Old Testament Second Edition

Corrine L. Carvalho

“Encountering Ancient Voices makes an invaluable contribution to undergraduate biblical studies, especially for students who are studying the Bible as part of their core curriculum. The book’s format is exceptionally helpful, especially the discussions of biblical passages, but also the charts, sidebars, overviews, and summaries. This book helped me achieve my best effort ever in teaching this course.”

—Evelyn R. Thibaux
Loyola University

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Corrine L. Carvalho is professor of theology and director of the University of Saint Thomas’s Luann Dummer Center for Women. Dr. Carvalho received her PhD from Yale University, where she specialized in Old Testament studies, and her master’s degree from the Graduate Theological Union, in Berkeley, California.

Jesus in the Gospels and Acts

Introducing the New Testament New Edition

Daniel J. Scholz

“Dr. Scholz’s book fills a serious lacuna in the field, namely, a solid, up-to-date examination of the Gospels in their historical and literary context that, at the same time, is accessible to undergraduates of every age and creed. This text, paired with Dr. Scholz’s volume on Paul [The Pauline Letters, 2013], serves as the perfect guide for an introductory course on the New Testament.”

The Pauline Letters

Introducing the New Testament

Daniel J. Scholz

“This introduction to the Pauline Letters will take its place among the most accessible of its kind. Complicated history of exegesis is presented simply and comprehensibly. A particular strength is the focus on the theology and ethics of each letter. A final chapter completes the picture with brief presentations of the legacy of Paul in the early centuries of the Church.”

Paul

Windows on His Thought and His World

Maria Pascuzzi

“A textbook that explores the person Paul and his writings in light of his historical and social contexts, Paul: Windows on His Thought and His World eschews the common format of letter-by-letter review, opting for a topical introduction that better explores reoccurring themes and synthesizes Paul’s thought. A good introduction for those beginning their Pauline studies or those ready to renew their acquaintance with the Apostle to the Gentiles.”

—Laurie Brink, OP
Catholic Theological Union

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Maria Pascuzzi has a doctorate in sacred theology from Gregorian University and a licentiate in Sacred Scripture from the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome. She is the associate editor of the Catholic Biblical Quarterly and a former associate professor of biblical studies in the Department of Theology and Religious Studies at the University of San Diego.

The Almighty and the Dollar

Reflections on Economic Justice for All

Mark J. Allman, Editor

"This volume celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary of Economic Justice for All, a notable pastoral letter of the U.S. bishops. The text is more than a worthy commemoration because Mark Allman has brought together a fine array of scholars who retrieve insights of the letter and develop excellent ethical reflections appropriate to our present economic situation."

—Kenneth R. Himes, OFM
Boston College

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Mark J. Allman holds a PhD in Christian ethics from Loyola University in Chicago. He teaches at Merrimack College in North Andover, Massachusetts. His work has been published in numerous scholarly and popular journals.

See, Judge, Act

Catholic Social Teaching and Service Learning

Erin M. Brigham

"Erin Brigham provides an invaluable tool for connecting the lived and scholarly traditions of Catholic social teaching with a service-learning pedagogy that concretely engages urgent signs of the times. She deftly surfaces reflective and interpretive components of social analysis to help students not only bridge insights from the Catholic tradition with contemporary justice issues but also reexamine their perceptions and convictions in light of community encounters."

Christian Spirituality

Lived Expressions in the Life of the Church

Peter Feldmeier

"This well-crafted survey strikes me as a desirable volume to engage readers with the riches of the Christian spiritual tradition. Well written, adorned with user-friendly pedagogical aids, it is ideal for classroom use."

—Lawrence S. Cunningham
University of Notre Dame

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Peter Feldmeier is the Murray/Bacik Endowed Chair of Catholic Studies at the University of Toledo, where he specializes in Christian spirituality, comparative theology, and Buddhist-Christian dialogue. Named the Aquinas Scholars Professor of the Year at Saint Thomas University in St. Paul, MN, in 2010.

Moses in Pharaoh's House

A Liberation Spirituality for North America

John J. Markey

"John Markey has created a work of compelling power and intellectual depth that asks people in the U.S. to experience the world in a radically different way. If Christians are to imitate Christ, then we must make choices in keeping with God's love for those at the economic and political margins of our world. Only then do we begin the dismantling of the walls of pharaoh's house."

—Nancy Pineda-Madrid
Boston College

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Christian Thought and Practice

A Primer Revised Edition

Natalie Kertes Weaver

"This clear and comprehensive 'primer' is an ideal text for an 'Introduction to Christianity' course. But it is far more than that. In Christian Thought and Practice, Natalie Kertes Weaver provides a readable guide to anyone seeking a balanced description of the history, beliefs, and practices of Christianity. Written by an accomplished teacher, it presumes no background knowledge on the part of the reader, but only a willingness to understand how Christianity today came to be what it is—in all its diversity. A remarkable achievement."

—Terrence W. Tilley
Fordham University

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Natalie Kertes Weaver is the associate dean of graduate studies and a professor of religious studies and ministry at Ursuline College.

God at the Margins

Making Theological Sense of Religious Plurality

Aimée Upjohn Light

"In the last forty years, liberation theology, feminist theology, and theologies attentive to religious diversity have been rethinking central topics in Christian theology. In this concise volume, Light brings together these disciplines and the synergy among them. God at the Margins serves as a solid introduction to these theological fields and the future that might emerge at their intersection."

—Jeannine Hill Fletcher
Fordham University

If God Is for Us

Christian Perspectives on God and Suffering

Gloria L. Schaab

"'If there is a God, and if God is good, then how can God allow suffering and injustice?' Perhaps no other question so urgently occupies young people struggling with religious commitment. But it cannot be avoided if one is to lay claim to honest and mature Christian faith. In her superb book If God Is for Us, Gloria Schaab probes various options and offers a way forward that takes both Christian belief and the reality of suffering seriously. She does not seek to offer final 'answers,' which would ultimately prove inadequate, but rather to offer approaches to the question that will yield deeper insights."

—Rev. David Gentry-Akin
Saint Mary's College of California

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Gloria L. Schaab, SJ, is professor of theology, director of graduate programs in theology and ministry, and associate dean for general education at Barry University, in Miami Shores, Florida. She is the author of Trinity in Relation (Anselm Academic, 2012).

Reason, Faith, and Tradition

Explorations in Catholic Theology Revised Edition

Martin C. Albl

"Albl explains the compatibility of and interrelationship among reason, faith, and Catholic Tradition in his text. In response to hostility toward religious faith and to secularists' false dichotomy between faith and science or reason, he gives persuasive replies. With clear language and arguments, Albl refutes prominent disparagers of faith, such as atheist genius Richard Dawkins, and counters antifaith worldviews like big bang and Darwinist reductionism with reasonable arguments for intelligent design. Albl fears no religious controversy, and he always responds reasonably and pastorally."

—William S. Kurz, SJ
Marquette University

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Martin C. Albl is professor of religious studies at Presentation College in Aberdeen, South Dakota, and author of The Church: Christ in the World Today. He received his doctorate in religious studies from Marquette University in Milwaukee.

Science and Religion

Beyond Warfare and Toward Understanding

Joshua M. Moritz

"One of the many virtues of Joshua Moritz's well-structured and wide-ranging introduction to the relation between science and religion is its resourceful use of historical scholarship to illuminate the origins and the limitations of an all-pervasive conflict model. Ambitious in its bid to replace conflict with peace, Science and Religion will be accessible and stimulating, as well as a successful student text."

—John Hedley Brooke
University of Oxford

Understanding Jesus

Christology from Emmaus to Today

Christopher McMahon

"A refreshingly direct Christological overview in which McMahon allows the debates, concerns, and questions, not only of scholars but also of the faithful, to emerge from the texts and then to be addressed in a balanced and thoughtful manner. The book's open and inclusive approach invites readers from any background or perspective to make the journey and to encounter the richness and impact of Christ's life in the world."

—Shannon Schrein, OSF
Lourdes University

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Christopher McMahon currently teaches theology at Saint Vincent College in Latrobe, PA. His areas of interest include Christology and Scripture. He has contributed essays to Patristic and Byzantine Review, New Blackfriars, American Benedictine Review, and The Journal of Religion and Film. Who Is God?

Catholic Perspectives through the Ages

John J. Markey

"'Who is God?' There is no more central—or highly debated—theological question. Drawing on the riches of the Christian, and specifically Catholic, tradition, as well as contemporary cultural resources, John Markey's Who Is God? is learned and poetic, engaging and accessible. Markey and his colleagues Greg Zuschlag and Paul Contino have provided an excellent and creative text for a broad readership. Highly recommended for undergraduate students, pastoral ministers, faith-related discussion groups, and all engaged in the quest for ultimate meaning in human life."
